KEEPERS OF THE FIRE

For half a millennium, First Nations women have been at the forefront of aboriginal peoples' resistance to cultural assimilation. Today, Native women are still fighting for the survival of their cultures and their peoples - in the rainforest and the city, in the courts and the legislatures, in the Longhouses and the media.

The movie KEEPERS OF THE FIRE is being offered as part of the Free Film Series:

Noon
Tuesday, March 7, 1995
Room 156

SFU SPEAKER

DR. VANAJA DHURUVARAJAN, will be presenting a lecture at Cowichan Campus on International Women's Day:
