

I1 Your name?

B: Is Ed Barner. B-A-R-N-E-R. And with my father in the military, we lived in Chilliwack. We've lived in Churchill, we've lived in Kingston, we've lived in Ottawa, we lived in Comox. And yeah, Kingston, Comox, Church, yeah. All over Canada so. And Germany a couple times, just to add a little spice to it all. So got to see a lot of the country that way and then throughout the travels been all the way from Queen Charlotte Islands, or Haida Gwaii, to Newfoundland and back, so. But I have not seen the north yet, except Churchill. We lived in Churchill.

I1: So where's your favorite spot out of them all?

B: Where I am right now. Comox, Vancouver Island. But if I had to go out east, I'd choose Kingston. Kingston, Ontario. Second favorite place.

I1: I don't know how well this is gonna turn out.

B: With the wind, yeah.

I1: Even with the dead cat on your. [Laugh].

I2: It's going to be edited out.

B: You should. I know, I appreciate it. Too bad you don't have dead mustache. [Laugh]. So now I like Kingston, Ontario and Comox, BC.

I1: Why Kingston?

B: Good, young population. The exact opposite of Comox, which is a good, old population. Age-wise. Lots of history. It's a interesting small town. Not too big, not too small, yeah.

O: He's only 25 years.

B: I'm only 25 years. And I've done all that in 25 years.
